Meg: Hello everyone, it's us. Since we've been in lockdown, we've been debating whether to sacrifice the extremely polished high quality of our recordings that you guys are so used to, for series 2 by doing them remotely. The answer is yes: we're going to, you're welcome, and we're sorry in advance.

Sara: We've got guests who actually willingly came on the show, can you believe it? There's Conor off the National Videogame Museum, and we'll be covering topics like human remains, moths and inventions made in the greatest city in the world. There'll also be some light dabbling in takeaways, jumanji, and lots of unwelcome house noises that our microphone picks up.

Meg: Subscribe to Museums n'That to be the first to hear series 2: coming to ears near you, literally, your own ears, very soon.
