

“The Sitter” by Rebecca

For this piece I do not believe that there is an actual sitter, however I feel that many sitters have come before her to create this fictional, satirical – somewhat racist caricature. I don't think that there was ever a name for this piece as I feel that it was just requested for him to do the drawing. I think that it should remain nameless and it should be down to the individual viewer to create a name.